SABRINA ROCCA

Sabrina is an Italian painter. Her work focuses on social engagement and pop culture: a colourful canvas with people, words and dreams.

WHY

“In recent years, I think that instead of getting better, gender and race discrimination is instead more and more prevalent and in the news. Through my work, I try to make people think, with a smile, about important issues, because I do not believe in criticism as an end in itself, nor in satire that too often results in bad taste..

I believe in positive examples, I believe in good, in the smiles of children who are our future...”
