Master Training on the Effective Business Member Organization

Background and justification

BMOs have an essential part to play in sound social and economic development.

With a diverse membership drawn from different sectors, regions and sizes of company, they have an important role to play in interaction with governments, as:

- sources of information on the major constraints affecting private-sector development and the need to create a sound business environment to foster economic development and job creation.
- partners in discussing and co-designing a wide range of policies for private-sector development, including taxation, infrastructure, trade, social affairs and labour market reform.

Acting as employers' representatives, they play an important part in interaction with trade unions:

- national social and economic consultation bodies as tripartite partners, alongside trade unions;
- collective bargaining/social dialogue at national, sector or company level as negotiation partners.

They can also have a very important role as providers of business development services: in exchange for membership fees, members increasingly expect, tangible, quality services such as information, advice and training in the areas of labour law, human resources management, access to finance, trade promotion etc.

EBMOs are confronted with complex issues in managing their internal resources, balancing members' interests, managing their memberships and maintaining a sound revenue base.

In short, being on the professional staff of a BMOs means having to master a set of competencies in order to face complex situations and play a demanding role.

The Master Training for the Effective Business Member Organisation provide the unique mix of knowledge, competencies and skills needed for these functions through a 360 ° look at BMO functioning.

This programme is run for the sixth time after successful editions since 2012.

- Sustainable delivery of services;
- Efficient management of membership and revenue building;
- Good governance;
- Strategic planning for more effective BMOs.

At the end of the training, the participants will be able to:

- better understand the context in which BMOs function and the challenges with which they are confronted;
