ILSGEN – PROGRAMME ON
INTERNATIONAL LABOUR STANDARDS,
RIGHTS AT WORK AND GENDER EQUALITY

The International Training Centre of the ILO offers learning and capacity development activities to promote a fairer and more inclusive world of work. The ILSGEN Programme focusses on four main thematic areas:

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR STANDARDS (ILS)

Since 1919, the setting of ILS, the promotion of their ratification and application and their supervision has been the most important function of the International Labour Organization (ILO) in its pursuit of social justice. Over the past century, ILS have brought about historic economic and social progress in many countries, resulting in improvement of peoples' lives. In today's world, ILS are the legal component of the ILO's proposed strategy for governing globalization, promoting sustainable development, eradicating poverty and ensuring that everyone can work in conditions of freedom, equity, security and dignity.

GENDER EQUALITY AND EQUAL OPPORTUNITIES AND TREATMENT FOR ALL

Gender equality is a fundamental right and an essential ingredient for sustainable societies and organizations. Our main areas of expertise include:

- Gender equality in the world of work;
- Equality, diversity and disability inclusion in organizations; Gender mainstreaming in development planning;
- Preventing and addressing violence and harassment in the world of work.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES AND RIGHTS AT WORK FOR ALL

Fundamental principles and rights at work provide the foundation for fair, just and equitable societies. Freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining are “enabling” rights, crucial for the realization of all rights at work. Ending discrimination will ensure that millions of people in conditions of exclusion and vulnerability can express their full potential. The Sustainable Development Agenda - Target 8.7 calls for the elimination of child labour in all its forms by 2025 and the eradication of forced labour, modern slavery and human trafficking by 2030.

MARITIME LABOUR LAW

The Maritime Labour Convention, 2006 of the ILO promotes decent working and living conditions on board ships. Entered into force on 20 August 2013, it is having a concrete impact thanks to efficient Flag State inspections and Port State control based on its novel “no more favourable treatment” provision, which aims to ensure that all vessels are subject to inspection, irrespective of whether its Flag State has ratified the instrument. The Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations (CEACR) – one of the main ILO supervisory bodies – has begun examining application by countries which are party to the Convention and are under the obligation to provide reports in accordance with article 22 of the ILO Constitution. The comments of the CEACR provide clarifications on specific issues and on application in law and in practice.

WHOM DO WE SERVE?

* We offer learning and capacity development opportunities to all those who have a role to play to promote a fairer and more inclusive world of work: governments, employers’, workers’ organizations, international and national actors, companies and non-governmental organizations. Check individual courses for specific target audiences.

STANDARD COURSES AND TAILOR-MADE SERVICES

Our 2020 calendar comprises face-to-face, blended and distance learning courses both on Campus in Turin, Italy, and in selected countries. Some courses are offered in several languages, such as English, French, Spanish, Arabic, Portuguese or Russian.

We also design learning and advisory services to tailor the needs of requesting organizations.

A limited number of fellowships are available for qualifying candidates in selected courses.

Learn and practice the skills required to facilitate a cultural shift towards equality, and become change agents in your own organizations. By attending this course, you will gain a different perspective on attitudinal change and have opportunity to practice the skills needed to transform the mindsets of others. You will be engaged in dynamic, focused, highly participatory group-work approaches to changing the discriminatory attitudes and practices that currently exclude many marginalized groups from mainstream employment, services and activities. “Facilitating for Diversity” takes a rights-based approach to promoting equality in practice, and does it in a lively, person-centred, dynamic way.

Help groups to embrace equality wholeheartedly.

Learn to be an effective change agent by using facilitation techniques that really work.

- * *Staff of public and private institutions wishing to help their organizations become more inclusive; representatives of UN agencies, ministries of labour, workers’ and employers’ organizations, gender and other equality bodies, disabled people’s organizations, and NGOs. Under objective 8.7 of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, governments are committed to taking effective and immediate measures to eradicate forced labour, ending modern slavery and human trafficking, securing the prohibition and elimination of the worst forms of child labour, and ending child labour in all its forms by 2025.

A number of European countries have recently ratified the 2014 Protocol to the Forced Labour Convention and are developing new legislation and policies. However, a number of challenges are stalling further progress at the European level: few victims are identified and supported, and the extent of investigations, prosecutions and convictions remain limited.

This training course will offer European law enforcement actors the opportunity to exchange operational experiences on topical issues of concern and areas of practice linked to the enforcement of national legislation and policies on forced labour/trafficking for labour exploitation. It will foster peer learning, offer participants the possibility to further enhance their knowledge and practical skills and facilitate networking.

TAILOR-MADE SERVICES

All the curricula we offer on Campus can be tailor-made and run in country upon request. In addition, we can design learning and advisory services tailoring to the needs of your organization or a specific target group, in areas such as:

- Strengthening the capacity of ILO member states to address the ILS application gaps identified by the ILO supervisory bodies and to comply with the reporting obligations under the ILO Constitution. These activities use an integrated approach at national level, targeting a range of actors: officials of governmental institutions, representatives of employers' and workers organizations, parliamentarians, judges and lawyers, media professionals
- Standards-related obligations for the ILO's tripartite constituents
- International labour law for law practitioners
- Communicating labour rights for journalists and media professionals
- Continuing legal education on ILS in the framework of national accreditation systems
- ILS and their relevance to development issues: international and regional organizations, development banks and agencies, companies addressing labour issues in CSR initiatives as well as non-governmental organizations

GENDER EQUALITY AND DIVERSITY

- Participatory Gender Audits in institutions and certification programmes
- Tailor-made programmes and training materials on gender equality, equal opportunities, violence and harassment in the world of work, indigenous peoples' rights, HIV and AIDS
- On-line learning platforms and self-learning modules, in areas such as:
  - Gender equality in companies
  - Gender mainstreaming in development planning
  - Gender-responsive budgeting
  - Disability inclusion
  - Equal pay \(in Spanish\)

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES AND RIGHTS AT WORK

- Promotion of fundamental principles and rights at work emphasizing an integrated approach
- Face to face courses, on-line learning platforms and communities of practice on one or more of the four clusters of fundamental principles and rights at work: right to freedom of association and collective bargaining, right to freedom from forced labour and child labour, and right to equality and non- discrimination in employment and occupation
- Multi stakeholder forums to facilitate peer-based learning and exchange of the latest cutting edge practice

In addition to the courses offered on a yearly basis at the International Training Centre of the International Labour Organization in Turin, the following tailor-made training activities are organized upon request:

- Awareness-raising workshop on the ILO MLC, 2006 for seafarers and seafarers' representatives
- Workshop for ship operators and officers on the ILO MLC, 2006
- Implementing the ILO MLC, 2006 in the cruise industry
