NEGOTIATION SKILLS FOR EFFECTIVE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

25 – 29 SEPTEMBER 2023
TURIN, ITALY

Information Note

INTRODUCTION

The promotion of collective bargaining at all levels is key to productive, equitable and stable employment relations. While an enabling regulatory framework and other measures to promote collective bargaining are essential, the effectiveness of collective bargaining is often hampered by the poor negotiating skills of the bargaining parties. They may adopt a negotiation style that does not allow them to reach satisfactory outcomes. More often than not, the negotiation skills of the parties are confrontational and undermine trust which is the foundation of sound labour relations.

The Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87) and Right to Organise and Collective Bargaining Convention, 1949 (No. 98) lay the basis for democratic and stable labour relations. The importance of promoting collective bargaining is enshrined in the Collective Bargaining Convention, 1981 (No. 154) and its accompanying Recommendation (No. 163). The skills, knowledge and capacity of those representing employers and workers' organizations are critical in preventing labour disputes and achieving outcomes and agreements that meet the interests of all parties. Effective negotiation skills are not merely 'common sense'. They are acquired through a combination of training and experience.

The ITCILO courses on negotiation skills provide those involved in negotiations a first-hand knowledge and practice of negotiation skills and techniques. The course aims to develop participants' capacities to improve their negotiation skills and therefore to reach satisfactory outcomes for their organizations.

OBJECTIVES

The ITCILO courses on negotiation aim to develop participants' knowledge and understanding of consensus-building approaches to conflict management and dispute resolution.
