LABOUR INSPECTION

E-LEARNING COURSE ON STRENGTHENING AND MODERNIZING LABOUR INSPECTION

5 – 30 SEPTEMBER 2022

 4 WEEKS, 60 HOURS OF TRAINING

Information Note

INTRODUCTION

Labour inspection is an essential part of the labour administration system, carrying out the fundamental function of enforcement and effective compliance with labour legislation.

Labour inspection has a two-fold nature: on the one hand it secures the enforcement of the legal provisions relating to conditions of work and the protection of workers while engaged in their work, such as provisions relating to hours of work, wages, maternity protection, but also occupational safety and health, the employment of young persons, and other connected matters.

On the other hand, labour inspection provides technical information and advice to employers and workers concerning the most effective means of complying with the legal provisions. This dual nature means that labour inspection plays a key role to ensure fairness in the workplace and good governance of the labour market.

The conditions under which labour inspection operates have changed dramatically in recent decades due to technological and economic developments and the effects of globalization. In this context, labour inspection must redefine its organization and intervention strategies, so that it can better respond to the expectations raised by the evolving labour markets.

OBJECTIVES

The course will address the main features of a modern labour inspection system, and it will expose participants to selected international best practice. It will provide participants with the opportunity to gain new insights, share experiences and reflect on key issues, trends and challenges to modernize their labour inspection system.

At the end of the course participants will be able to:

- Explain the principles, functions and main characteristics of labour inspection
- Apply the ILO strategic compliance model
- Describe the ILO guidelines for the inspection of the working conditions and the employment relationships
- Plan and conduct labour inspection campaigns
- Improve the inspection of safety and health at the workplace
- Design and apply a labour inspection strategy for domestic workers
- Apply new tools and information systems for labour inspection
- Recognize good practices of labour inspection, including in response to COVID-19.

PARTICIPANTS' PROFILE

- Managers from the labour inspectorate from central or decentralized level;
- Labour inspectors from central or decentralized level;
- Trainers from labour administration/inspection training institutions;
- ILO officials and staff from technical cooperation projects;
