INTERNATIONAL LABOUR STANDARDS

TRAINING OF INSPECTORS OF LABOUR CONDITIONS ON BOARD FISHING VESSELS

17 JUNE – 5 JULY 2024

 3 WEEKS, 5 HOURS/WEEK

BACKGROUND AND RATIONALE

The fisheries sector produces one of the world's most valued sources of food, yet fishing is also one of the most challenging and hazardous occupations.

Fishers' fatality and injury rates are much higher than the national averages for workers in many countries. Globally, fishing is ranked as one of the four most dangerous occupations in which to work, in terms of loss of life, serious injuries, and occupational diseases.

Working and living conditions are also particularly challenging. Compared to those working in other sectors, many fishers are poorly protected by national labour or maritime laws and are often vulnerable to labour exploitation.

The Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188), adopted by governments, fishing vessels owners and fishers' organizations, makes it clear that decent working and living conditions on board fishing vessels shall become the rule.

The challenge for competent authorities in fishing and their inspectors is how to build (or extend) inspection services. The goal is to cover working and living conditions on board fishing vessels so that fishers have similar levels of labour protection to workers in industry, commerce and services.

The ILO and the International Training Centre of the ILO (ITCILO) accordingly train inspectors who are key to an effective implementation of decent work for all fishers.

WHO IS THE TARGET AUDIENCE?

- Officials from maritime, labour and other authorities conducting inspections of working and living conditions on board fishing vessels.
- Trainers of inspectors.
- Representatives of fishing vessel owners' and fishers' organizations can also benefit from the course.

WHAT WILL YOU GAIN FROM THE COURSE?

- Understanding of the international instruments regulating work in fishing.
- Capacity to prepare and conduct inspection of working and living conditions on board fishing vessels.
- Knowledge of tools and techniques to identify and remedy non-conformities, as well as to promote decent working and living conditions in fishing.

WHAT TOPICS DOES THE COURSE COVER?

- The international regulatory framework: inspection and enforcement challenges; the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188) with focus on definitions, scope of application and competent authorities.
- What is to be inspected: roles and responsibilities, valid documents, crew list, fisher's work agreement, manning, hours of rest, medical certificates and medical care, occupational safety and health, food and water, accommodation, payment of fishers, minimum age, recruitment and repatriation, complaint mechanisms.
- Tools and techniques for securing decent living and working conditions on board fishing vessels.

WHAT METHODS WILL BE USED?

- Interactive self-guided sessions, combined with live sessions via Zoom.
- Weekly multiple-choice quizzes.
- A forum for discussion.
- Knowledge assessment at the start and at the end of the training.

WHO ARE THE GUEST SPEAKERS IN THE WEBINARS?

- Experts from the International Labour Office.
- Specialists from leading fishing institutions.

WHAT IS THE LANGUAGE OF THE COURSE?

The course will be offered in English. A good command of the working language is required.
