SOCIAL HEALTH PROTECTION

ADDRESSING INEQUITIES IN ACCESS TO HEALTH CARE

OVERVIEW

Covid-19 has highlighted the fundamental importance of ensuring access to health care and income security for all, especially for vulnerable groups. Although many national social protection systems have been strengthened and access to health improved, the pandemic has uncovered significant gaps and inequities in coverage that will need to be urgently addressed. This timely course focuses on health coverage within the context of national social protection systems, including floors.

The course will provide an overview of the objectives of social health protection and its contribution to reaching universal health coverage (UHC) and universal social protection (USP) in the context of the 2030 Agenda. It will examine the state of coverage and macro-trends at global and country levels, before exploring the guiding principles provided by ILO standards for the design and operationalization of social health protection schemes. The course will focus on the extension of the various dimensions of coverage and will provide insights on the technical options for coverage expansion.

WHAT

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

- Global frameworks and strategies: to help contextualise national social health protection strategies and programmes.
- Coverage extension and pooling: understand different approaches and technical options for extending coverage – especially to informal workers – and broadening risk pooling.
- Revenue collection: explore, analyse and compare different models for revenue collection with practical examples and case studies.
- Benefit packages: understand the formulation process – selecting a range of health interventions and cost coverage.
- Purchasing: learn about different approaches to purchasing health services in the context of social health protection schemes.
- Governance and administration: understand the importance of robust governance, management and administration of social health protection programmes to leverage the resources and structures offered by broader social protection and health systems.
- Sustainable financing: to inform medium and longer term financing strategies for social health protection in the context of public financial management and social budgeting.

WHAT WILL I BE ABLE TO DO?

- Understand the role of social health protection in the context of national social protection systems, including floors.
- Be conversant with global and regional deficits in health coverage and access as well as inequities across and within countries.
- Identify the main design parameters and technical options to make the right to social health protection a reality for all.
- Be better equipped when participating in the process of formulating and implementing policies aiming at reaching universal health coverage.

WHY

WHY SHOULD I JOIN?

- Learn from international social health protection experts both online and face to face.
- Join a global network of social protection and health professionals to share learning and best practices.
- Engage in a highly interactive blended learning environment combining the interactivity of the ITCILO's eCampus with experiential learning and knowledge sharing in Turin. The course will make use of online resources and case studies, blending online live tuition during the first phase of the course, with a dynamic and enriching residential learning phase including individual and group exercises to promote collaboration and knowledge sharing.
- Successful participants receive an ITCILO Certificate of Achievement.

This course is an eligible course for the Diploma for Social Protection Managers. To achieve the Diploma, successful candidates must complete four courses within a five-year period and undertake a capstone assessment.

WHO

WHO TAKES THIS COURSE?

The course is designed for executives, managers, planners, financial officers and other professionals responsible for healthcare and social health insurance schemes, in both governmental and non-governmental sectors.
